Youth Employment in Tourism and Hospitality

A critical review

Andreas Walmsley
For Ee Hsien
Youth Employment in Tourism and Hospitality

A Critical Review

Andreas Walmsley

Goodfellow Publishers Ltd
Contents

1 Introduction
Overview of content
The blight of youth unemployment
Structural changes in the labour market

2 Determining Levels of Youth Employment
Youth and employment as social constructs
Measurement of tourism and hospitality employment
Levels of youth employment in tourism and hospitality

3 The Nature of Youth Employment
Working conditions for young people
The experience of work
Trade unions
Youth employment in developing countries
Youth employment and responsible tourism

4 Barriers to Youth Employment
Supply side barriers
Demand side barriers
Initiatives to foster youth employment in tourism and hospitality

5 Education, Employability and Youth Employment
Nature and expansion of tourism and hospitality education
Education and economic growth
Employability
The contribution of young people to the achievement of organisational objectives

6 The Education to Work Transition
The importance of a successful transition
The meaning of career
Career decision-making and development
Changing attitudes to employment and career
Early work experiences
The role of work placements / internships
SMEs and graduate entrepreneurship

7 Conclusion
Index

Index

Acknowledgements

I would like to thank former colleagues at Leeds Beckett University where my interest in the area of tourism employment was fostered and where the foundations for this text were laid. In particular I would like to acknowledge Rhodri Thomas and Stephanie Jameson in this regard. I would also like to acknowledge colleagues at the Association for Tourism in Higher Education who provided an open, welcoming forum for discussions and who give up so much of their time to promote the academic study of tourism.